McEwen FFA

On March 20-23, the McEwen FFA Chapter attended the 88th Tennessee FFA State Convention and Expo. While at convention, 10 members received their FFA State Degree. These members were: Kaitlin Crump, Eran Davis, Lexie Edwards, Katie Grebner, Scarlett McClurkan, Shelby McCulley, Garrett Reese, Noah Ross, Corriisa Tummins, and Juliana White. The chapter competed in six contests. These contests were: Parliamentary Procedure, Ag Sales, Ag Issues, Farm Business Management and Extemporaneous Speaking. The Parliamentary Procedure Team consisting of Kayla Sager, Makenzie Stewart, Julia Leegan, Allison Bohanon, Katie Grebner, and Juliana White, placed 1st in State. Ag Sales placed 3rd in the State. Team members were Kaitlin Crump, Erika Brown, Olivia Kennedy, and Jill Simpson. The Ag Issues Team consisted of Hannah Blair, Shelby McCulley, Garrett Reese, Kaitlin Crump, Scarlett McClurkan, Sarah Burns, and Chris Sager. This team competed, but did not advance. Farm Business Management team members were Jill Simpson, Erika Brown, Olivia Kennedy, and Courtney Long. The team worked hard and competed, but, sadly, did not advance. Juliana White competed in Extemporaneous Speaking and placed fourth in the state. In addition to these six contests, two of our members, Katie Grebner and Scarlett McClurkan, entered a plant systems project into the Ag Science Fair and placed third at the state level. Marissa O'Connell had the honor of opening the First General Session singing the National Anthem. She also sang a Beyonce mash-up for talent. State Convention was a success for the McEwen FFA Chapter this year!

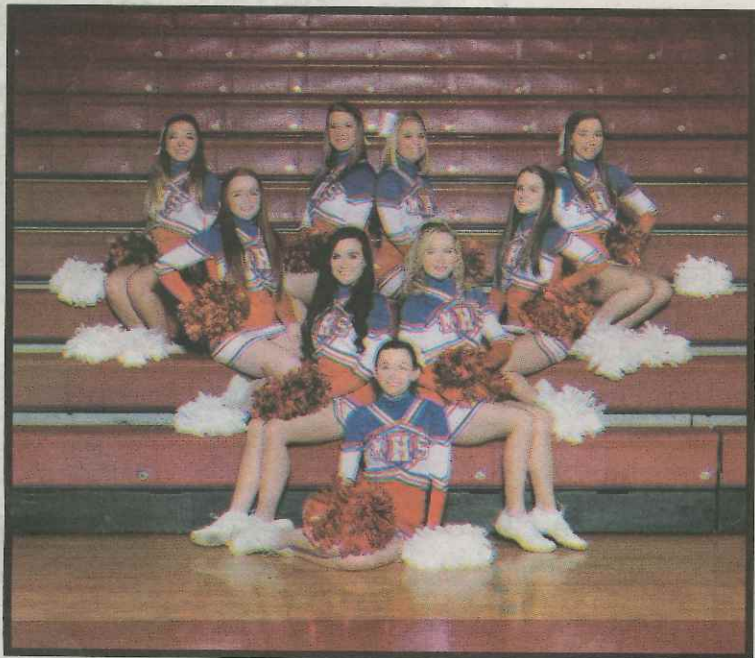

MHS Cheer

By: Hunter Warfield

During the basketball season this year, there were 7 cheerleaders on the squad. There are 4 seniors graduating this May. These seniors are Captain Hailey Long, Co-Captain Kristen Price, Anna Derrick, and Mindy Ray. The rest of the squad is made up of junior Taiyler Rushing, sophomore Courtney Long, and freshman Kassidy Lankford.

The girls had a great season and I hope they have a great one next year!

MHS Drama

By: Shelby McCulley

This year's Drama students have been working hard on their play "Broadway Through the Decades." Since the start of the second semester, they've been practicing 3-4 days a week before and/or after school. MHS student Hunter Warfield commented, "It's a lot harder than people think. You can't just sit back and not do anything." Even though drama may have its challenges, there is no doubt it has rewarding pay-off. With all of the effort Mrs. Wilson and her students put into these plays, don't hesitate to drop by and show them your appreciation!

Arts Society

Dear Readers,

This is Hunter Warfield, representative of the MHS Arts Society. We are a new club to MHS. The Arts Society is open to any high schooler with an artsy talent. If you can sing, play an instrument, draw, paint, or act the Arts Society could be for you. Our society is run by President Ellison Murphree. She is a smart and efficient young lady. She helps our sponsor Mrs. Rye set up meetings and fun activities for us to do. That is all for now.

Sincerely,
Hunter Warfield

WCHS Soccer

By: Ellison Murphree

The WCHS Boys Soccer team has started the 2016 season with a diverse team of athletes. Four MHS students joined up with the Tigers to advance the team's potential. McEwen's boys include: Evan Hamilton, Noah Nance, Noah Ross, and Alan Sager. WCHS Soccer hopes to improve their record, and exceed expectations in the District Tournament.

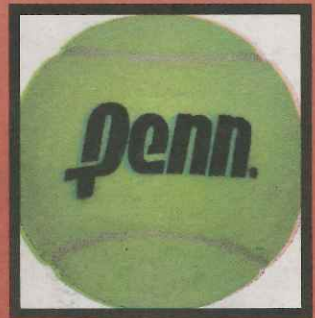

MHS Tennis

By: Hannah Blair

The 2016 girls tennis team came out with a 2-0 undefeated record. Hannah Blair and Allison Bohanon left their mark on Houston County's tennis courts leaving them shaking in their tennis shoes and skorts. Both girls put in a lot of effort this year to make the team excel, and of course they certainly would not be able to hold such a title without their coach, Coach Pullen. A big thank you goes out to all those who supported us (AKA, Melissa Bohanon, Holly Blair, and Austin Mayberry) and most importantly Coach Pullen for giving us balls to practice with. Goodluck to the coach and next year's rookies!

Warriors Baseball

The McEwen's baseball season is finally underway. The dugouts have been freshly painted. the baseball field is looking fantastic. The grass is green and luscious. The dirt is drug to perfection with no holes or ditches dug into it. The boys have put forth a lot of effort this year into what they do. They are constantly on the field practicing or playing a game, except for when it rains, then they play water polo on the field instead. More or less, the games are hard to watch but the pants aren't.

Warriorettes Softball

By: Kaitlin Crump

The softball team is having a great year. As we are getting closer to tournament time, we are becoming successful. All of the hard work is beginning to pay off. We love our new coaches and they have really pushed us to become better individuals and a better team. As we continue this season, we are going to keep working hard and make this season our best yet.

Warriorettes Basketball

By: Scarlett McClurkan

The Warriorettes have done it again! Another amazing season for an outstanding program. With a season ending record of 22-6, the warriorettes have really out done themselves! This was a season for the record books.

Adding to her previous 1,000 point record, Senior Maddie Long finished her high school career with a mind boggling 1,958 points and also received the honor of making the All-Mid State and All-State teams. Not doing this alone, Maddie was assisted by her fellow seniors, Lexie Edwards and Julia Leegan. Lexie's three point shot added another element to our game that will be greatly missed. Julia provided much support and hairspray throughout the years. Her advice and great style tips will not be forgotten. Finally, the heart of the team, Senior Eran Davis, was the warriorettes manager and therapist. It will be a while before the team can find someone to fill her waterbottles.

Just because the seniors are graduating, it doesn't mean the warriorettes are going to lose steam! The upcoming freshmen and returning veterans have much to offer for the upcoming season. Stay tuned to see what warriorettes have in store for next year. Go Warriorettes!

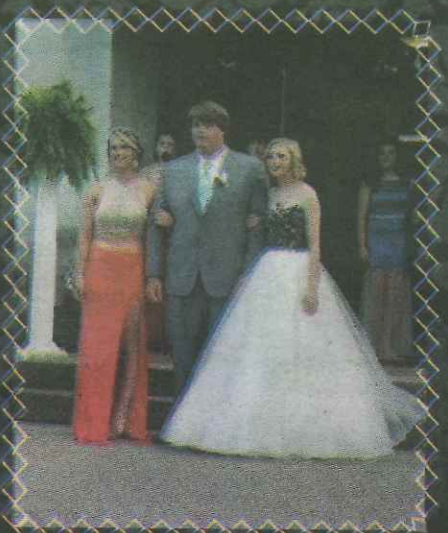

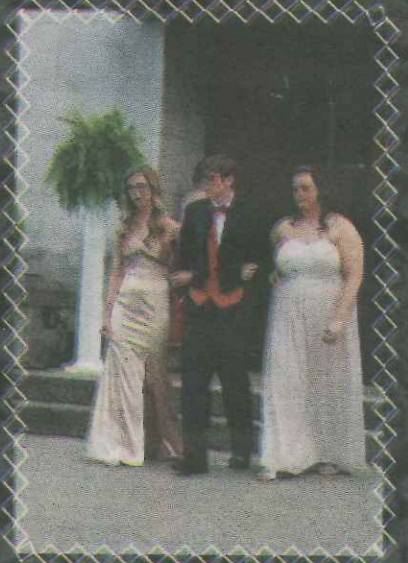

Warriors Basketball

By: Noah Ross

The boys basketball team has a very rare and unique situation. We have zero seniors on the team and therefore should have our entire team returning next year. Next year our now experienced team will be a force to be reckoned with. We ended this year with eight juniors, two sophomores, and five freshman. Our team was very young with few players having any varsity experience. Everyone can expect to cheer on our guys next year in the state tournament. I'll see you there!

Senior Prophecy

By: Julia Leegan and Makenzie Stewart

The class of 2016 always held their prom at Samuel's on the Square in Waverly, TN. It was always cramped, crowded, and hot. However in the year of 2026, as they come back for their ten year reunion, Samuel's is now a thriving, five star restaurant that has expanded its space. As they all arrive at the reunion, each class member stands in line waiting to walk down the red carpet.

First to enter is Dennis Adcock. After graduating high school, Dennis followed his calling to be a tobacco farmer in Virginia. Next is Bryan Balcom. Bryan used his savvy technology skills to become a computer hacker for the government. In comes Hailey Long, Disney Cruise Ship entertainer, and her husband Drew Barbe. Drew works at his not so little brother's gym, Barbe's Builders, as a spotter. Next to arrive is the trophy wife for a professional coon hunter, Hannah Blair. Allison Bohanon comes in behind Hannah. Word on the street is that she is the best soccer coach in the state, and recently received the Soccer Mom of the Year Award.

In walks Justin Buckner who now spends his days making money as a video game designer. Aric Burkett shows up next. They say that he hung up his gun for good, and became a duck master... so now he spends his day herding ducks into a pond in a little parade. Here comes Sean Burns, who now sells video game cheats on the black market. Who is that double dabbing down the red carpet? It's Fable, aka Tyler Cagle. He is now a famous rapper; however, he stays true to his roots and double dabs daily. Garrett Cauley shows up with pancakes for everyone, from his successful bakery in Vermont. Adam Chance achieved his life long dream of owning a vape shop called Fatam's.

Next to arrive are Kayla Sager and Jonathan Tarpy. The newlyweds just got back from their honeymoon in Gatlinburg. Kayla is a doctor in Switzerland and Jonathan is a race car driver. Next is Ashton Chappell, who is Jonathon's faithful pit crew. Next to show up is Katelyn Crowell who owns her own mani/ pedi salon. Out steps Breanna Dampf, world renowned tattoo artist. Now we have Sister Anna Derrick who has become a nun- oh wait now she's pouring holy water all over Tarah Smith, who has become a dancer to pay off her student loans. In walks Nathan Dircksen who is a well-known gynecologist through the week, but spends his weekends writing poetry for different poetry slams. Following Dr. Nathan is his wife Kristen Price. Kristen's cheerleading skills took her all the way to being a Dallas Cowboy Cheerleader. What's that I smell, chicken? Oh wait that's just Lexie Edwards who just finished her shift as a Popeye's general manager and is still in uniform. Next we have our McEwen Warriors football coach Jared Everhart. He used to be the quarterback for the Florida Gators, but sadly sustained a knee injury that ended his career.

Matthew Gold walks out next. Matthew wires rides at Disney Land; he recently married Princess Jasmine. Now Sarah Greene, who owns her own Happiness Improvement Clinic, walks down the red carpet. Next to arrive is college professor Rory Greer; Rory teaches history at Harvard. Here comes possibly the most successful man from the class of 2016, the one and only, Ethan Grissom, who is a professional cuddler and makes $80 an hour. Anthony Hall is playing his trumpet down the red carpet. He is the lead trumpet player in the Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade. Here comes Kimberly Herenandez covered in grease, who builds muscle cars on the Vegas strip. Author Ashley Woodall recently released her new book. The drama that is going around now is that book critic, Leilah Hinson wrote a bad review on Ashley's book. Youtube sensation, David Hooper made his grand appearance from his mother's basement, where he is currently trying to take over the world. Librarian Brittany Horner is walking down the red carpet with a book in each hand.

Lily Hosmer, who hated farming in high school, is now married to a pig farmer in Iowa with five kids. Out walks Cameron Hudgens, who is an executive for a successful hearing aid company called Hudgens Hearing. Animal and book lover, Molly Hurd is next in line. She owns a craft store and a rabbit farm. Leo James is keeping our border safe, by working as an immigration lawyer. Butter knife collector, Dylan Jones is a captain in the army and is very proud of his butter knife collection. Willy Lawrence is walking down the red carpet handing out golden tickets to visit his chocolate factory. After her dramatic weight loss in high school, Julia Leegan knew that becoming a dietician was her calling in life. Here comes Logan Loehrer, who was recently awarded top investigator of the CIA. Is that the sound of ankles breaking? Oh that explains it, it's basketball superstar Maddie Long and her manager Eran Davis who is carrying Maddie's gym bag. Savannah Lucas carried on with her softball career and founded the softball team for Vanderbilt University. Dressed in boots and a rebel flag dress, here comes Emily Marcum, who is a personal nurse for the country music stars in Nashville.

Trying to conquer her fear of foam, Faith Martin became the founder and CEO of a foam germ-x company. Word on the street is, she is seeing Sister Anna for counseling to help her deal with her phobia. Dressed to the nines, Dalton Morris has become a world famous fashion designer. Even Cameron Dallas is wearing Dalton's clothing. Dyllan Neal became an inspiring television preacher on channel 50. Dressed like a quaker, Damien Oates is next to arrive. He made his own brand of oatmeal. Next to show are Colt and Faith Palmateer. Colt plays in a brass band on Beale Street, and Faith is an extremely well known wedding planner. Jacob Parrish works for the FBI. Sadly, Jada Phy couldn't show. She was too busy warming people's beds at the Beverly Hills Hotel. Now we have entrepreneur Bailey Quickel; she founded a new pickle company called Quickel's Pickles. The quietest person from the graduating class of 2016, Anisa Rawls, became a radio talk show host for sports injuries. Here comes zookeeper Mindy Ray, riding in on a gorilla. Mark Rees works for the department of correction as a guard.

Garrett Reese walks through the door with six kids on leashes. Wait, one kid gets loose. Now another one, they're all going crazy while Garrett is laying in the floor having an emotional breakdown. He runs a failing day care, called Daddy G's. Next, Drill Sergeant Aimee Seller makes her appearance. Here comes snake wrangler Kayleigh Shanks walking in with a snake around her neck. Makenzie Stewart went on with her love for horses; however, instead of riding them, now she cleans horse stalls at a top of the line barn in Franklin. She is the head pooper scooper. Walking through the door next are Frank Summers and Allison West. They recently went in together to open a hair salon. People come from all over just to get their hair done by them. Kody Tidwell followed his dream of becoming a youth pastor. Josh Tomlin is next to arrive. He now drives the local ice cream truck around town. He's a huge hit with the people in our community. Samantha Tuten is looking fabulous as she walks down the red carpet; she became a make-up artist. Kaitlyn Westerman was pretty quiet when she was in school. Turns out that was all an act, because she is now a famous bounty hunter.

Michael Wilhite went on to become a taxidermist in Montana. He brings examples of his fine work with him to the reunion. Toni Wills loved spiders when she was in high school; so it seems fitting that she became a tarantula breeder. She is carrying a cage with her most prized tarantula inside. Rachel Woodall is gleaming with pride, because she just landed a new modeling job. That's right, Rachel is a hand model and is making millions. Tyler Zell was and still is obsessed with the Chicago Bulls. He was on cloud 9 when he landed a job with them! I know what you're thinking, Zell? With the Chicago Bulls? But I have witnessed it myself, it's amazing. He brings water to the players like no one I've ever seen. Finally, David Massie was MIA, just like he was our senior year.

*Thank you to Mr. Smith, Mr. Ross, Garrett Reese, Hannah Blair, Allison Bohanon, and Aric Burkett for the suggestions.

Will and Testament

We, the class of this year two-thousand and sixteen, upon our graduation on the twentieth of May, leave the following items to our friends, classmates, teachers, and family members in the hopes that we will always be remembered here at McEwen High School.

I, Hannah Blair, leave my aux chord and ability to survive high school to my brother Tanner Blair; my heart to Austin Mayberry; I wish Hunter Warfield the best of luck trying to find another person like me to walk to lunch with; Scarlett McClurkan the ability to be a jerk; Lastly, I leave everyone at MHS the ability to make the most of high school and the best memories.

I, Allison Bohanon, leave Scarlett McClurkan my goal kick and ability to put up with Mr. Ross; Katie Grebner the guardian of the chapter; Shelby McCulley my floriculture skills; Mr. Greene the ability to find someone, just as awesome as me, to replace me on the floriculture team; and Mr. Ross my parli binder... oh wait...

I, Aric Burkett, leave Yogi the greenhouse manager key and Beau Burney the ability to slay the ducks.

I, Katelyn Crowell, leave nothing because I like none of you except you Payton, I love you!

I, Breanna Dampf, leave everyone my ability to make snide remarks at the most awkward times and Mrs. Little and Mr. Smith my ability to always stay on task.

I, Eran Davis, leave Tori Tummins my seat at lunch, long talks, and our spontaneous adventures; Paige Sanker my kindness (you need more of that); Kelcie my post moves; Marissa my volleyball skills; Courtney Long my dance moves; Crumpy a little bit of my love for Carson Walker Tummins; Walker Tummins All of My Love.

I, Anna Derrick, leave my love of elephants to sweet Lilly, I leave the "Put it In" cheer to Kassidy, the cheer twitter account to Courtney, I leave the ability to smile and laugh when you mess up to Annabelle. To everyone else I leave positivity, happiness, and hope that you treat everyone you meet with kindness.

I, Nathan Dircksen, leave my ability to head-butt people in football to Andy, my ability to hit a baseball to Merickle, any talent I have as a botonist to Mr. Greene.

I, Lexie Edwards, leave my jersey to Heather Nihoff. The rest of the white squad the ability to slay. My humor to Crumpy... you need it. My eating habits to Paige. All my rhythm to Kelcie. And my shot to THE Erica Yearout.

I, Jared Everhart, leave the lunch table to Spears.

I, Ethan Grissom, leave Andy the ability to come in late or skip school to go hunting, my welding abilities to Yogi, and Brock the ability to leave class when you want.

I, Kimberly Hernandez, leave nothing to no one. I'm just glad to get out of this place!

I, David Hooper, leave everything to myself.

I, Lily Hosmer, leave my great music taste to Annabelle Garcia, my procrastination to Hunter Bolton, and my ability to stay faithful in a relationship to Jordan Stanford.

I, Leo James, leave Adam Tyler Martha, Brian Wilson The American Ride, Isaiah Wall all of my swag and then some, Abri Henry my taxing service.

William Lawrence - "Be like water my friend."

I, Julia Leegan, leave my ability to create havoc in the ag building to Scarlett McClurkan, my defensive softball skills to Erica Yearout, my leadership skills to Madison Milton, my softball team to Kaitlin Crump, KK Elliot, Heather Gibson, Ashton Cook, and Kaitlyn Ross, and I leave my parli binder to Mr. Ross... oh wait...

I, Hailey Long, leave the ability to stand strong in your faith to Kaitlin Crump and Ivy Adkinson. I leave "The Last Time" to Heather Muncy. I leave everything else, including (The Stomp) to my sister and best friend in the entire world, Courtney Long.

I, Maddie Long, leave Walker Tummins: Hollywood boulevard, Erica Yearout: my jersey number, Tori Tummins: my greatness, Paige Sanker: my smarts, Crumpy: my jump shot, Kelcie Donaldson: my ability to never be in class.

I, Emily Marcum, leave my ability to always stand up for myself to my cuz, Talyor Brock; the ability to coon hunt to Carson Beuerlein, and I leave my ability to make sure them football boys have water to Tori Tummins. And to everyone else, I'll pray for y'all!

I, Faith Martin, leave Adam Tyler my ability to be mediocre at cross country and Annabelle Garcia the ability to be hot in the face and love dogs more than humans.

Damien Oates - "Bye!!!"

I, Colt Palmateer, leave my happiness to the band.

I, Jada Phy, leave my Lana Del Rey memorabilia and my ability to procrastinate to Annabelle Garcia.

I, Kristen Price, leave my ability to be funny to Faith Rachford. I leave my attitude to Sarah Knowles. I leave my basing skills to Courtney Long, and to everyone else good luck.

I, Mark Rees, leave Andy and Thomas the lunch table.

I, Garrett Reese, leave Scarlett McClurkan the Pre-K kids and the ability to pull a good prank on Mr. Ross.

I, Kayla Sager, leave Scarlett McClurkan the ability to hold in the urge; Katie Grebner and Shelby McCulley my passion for flowers; my brother the ability to pass Chemistry; Mr. Greene the ability to find someone with funnier toes than me; and Mr. Ross my parli binder... oh wait...

I, Kayleigh Shanks, leave my lunch table to Paigey. I leave my always running late and my sassiness to Ashton. I leave my sweet talking to Beau. I leave my love for softball to my softball girls. I leave my car, karaoke, secrets, and ability to hide in bushes to Tori Tummins. I leave my heart and my boy craziness to my sister Kennedy. Good luck to everyone else, high school flies by! Have fun and make memories.

I, Tarah Smith, leave my attitude to Taylor Rushing; my messy hair to K.K.; short stop, twerking, and art to Crumpy; and my dancing ability to Pony.

I, Makenzie Stewart, leave my little sister, Whitney Stewart, my ability to procrastinate until the very last second and still pull off an "A" and my ability to be one of Mr. Ross's favorites; my cousin Brayden Grigsby, to do the best he can at whatever he decides to do; and to Mr. Ross, I leave my parli binder... oh wait...

I, Frank Summers, leave my legacy to nobody.

I, Jonathan Tarpy, leave the lunch table to Spears.

I, Kody Tidwell, leave my mad volleyball skills to Dennis, "Denny," and my nasty baseball skills to Matthew Moody.

I, Samantha Tuten, leave nothing to no one. I'm out, bye.

I, Kaitlyn Westerman, leave my ability to be unique to Aly and my ability to make good grades and always make the best out of everyday to my brother Seth.

I, Ashley Woodall, give my ability to be invisible to everyone who feels the need to disappear.

I, Tyler Zell, leave my running abilities to Adam Tyler and my hitting skills to Matthew Moody. #siiiiiick

Advice for High School Freshmen

By: Juliana White

- WALK ON THE RIGHT SIDE OF THE STAIRS!
- Do not stop walking in the middle of the hallway.
- Don't slack in easy classes as a freshman . . . your junior/senior self will not thank you for ruining your GPA so soon.
- Being called a "stupid freshman" doesn't mean you're actually stupid.
- Follow the dress code . . . it makes life easier for everyone.
- Acting dumb does not make you cool.
- Actually get involved in school activities and have school spirit!
- It is 100% okay to not wear makeup and/or dress up every day.
- Try your absolute very best to NOT procrastinate.
- It is okay to ask someone for help.
- Respect the teachers . . . They're actually pretty cool.
- A planner/organizer will be your best friend.
- Don't ignore your family because once you graduate, they will be your support.
- Do not forget to breathe.

Advice for College Freshmen

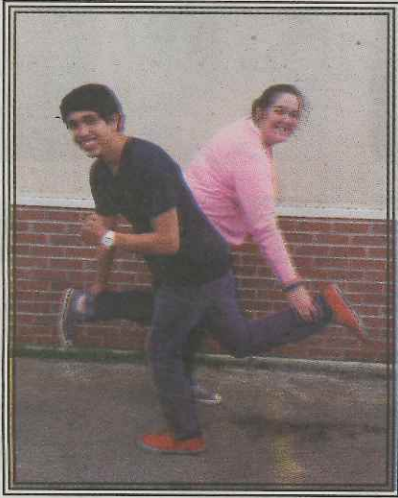

By: Aric Burkett

- 1.) Always go to calss, you never know when a professor will give a test or opportunity for extra credit.
- 2.) Get involved on campus.
- 3.) Always back-up your files, dropbox makes this easy as can be.
- 4.) Make sure your computer is protected against viruses.
- 5.) Learn to do your taxes and FASFA yourself, instead of letting your parents do it.
- 6.) Get a bank account with a bank in town.
- 7.) Bring enough clothing to college with you that you can go two weeks between washes, this will save money in the long run.
- 8.) If you have issues with your roommate, talk about the issues.
- 9.) Get a part-time job, preferably something related to your major.
- 10.) Try not to drink too much caffine, it's really not good for you. You can stay energized by eating healthy, staying hydrated, and getting good sleep.

Imagine... Tom and Jerry back at it again! The constant banter and torment never stops. But thinking about it, at the end of the day how much do we really know about the characters? You never hear them speak. What if they were real and you could ask them how it all started, what they really thought of each other? We have found the answers! That's right ladies and gentlemen, we have found the real life Tom and Jerry! They have been under our noses the whole time.

Who is it you ask? our favorite secretary, the one and only Mrs. Debbie Gann. And who else? Well, Mr. Glenn Ross of course! Now that the mystery has been solved, let's really get to know these two! We asked Mrs. Gann and Mr. Ross questions about each other individually, and here's the results.

Questions	Mrs. Gann's Answers	Mr. Ross's Answers
1. If a movie was made about the other person, who would play them and what would the movie be called?	Yule Brynner The Mystery of the Missing Greene Mule 	Dwayne "The Rock" Johnson Genghis Gann
2. What song describes them?	"Old McDonald Had a Farm"	"Dude Looks Like a Lady"
3. What jelly bean flavor are they?	Popcorn	Licorice
4. What student do they remind you of?	Coley Wood	Kayla Sager
5. What cartoon character do they remind you of?	Elmer Fudd	Edna Mode
6. What animal are they like?	Goldfish	Puppy
7. What would be their wrestling name?	Glenn "Bull Moose" Ross	NO ADMITTANCE
8. What would their book be titled?	How to Find the Perfect Wig for Dummies	I'm Watching You
9. What career are they most qualified for?	Wild Game Tour Guide	Death Row Executioner
10. What dog breed are they most like?	Golden Retriever	Ankle-biter
11. What school lunch are they most like?	Chili	Taco Salad

CLASSROOMS TURNED INTO VIRTUAL PIG FARMS

4/27/2016 Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee Ag News
COLUMBUS, OH

No muddy boots. No transportation. No permission slips. No problem. With just a Gmail address, webcam and solid internet connection, classrooms throughout Ohio, and soon throughout the Midwest, are being turned into virtual pig farms, thanks to a program initiated by the Ohio Pork Council in partnership with Farm Credit Mid-America.

The "Virtual Field Trip to an Ohio Pig Farm" program, started by OPC in 2015, allows students who may have never experienced a farm to participate in a live video tour and chat with an Ohio pig farmer, learning what it takes to raise pigs.

For the farmers who connect using their tablets and mobile phones, it was never a question of wanting classrooms to see the inner-workings of their farms, said OPC Director of Marketing and Education Jennifer Osterholt.

"With the best interest of people and pigs in mind, it's difficult to allow many visitors to physically enter barns on a pig farm," Osterholt said. "The virtual field trips, conducted through Google Hangouts live video chat, provide a sound solution for farmers to open their barn doors and share the ins and outs of being a pig farmer. It's also a great answer to the increasing need for transparency in the agriculture industry."
